These summer baths are costly for municipalities.

"Mead leads," says a contemporary. In the retreat or the advance; which?

Mr. Halley Comst, kindly give the veterans clear weather next Monday.

If the Democrats should elect their greatest possibility for president, the country would almost have Harmony once again.

In order to make the best showing possible, the New England Fat Men's club sought to be in Montpelier on June 8 for the weights and measures conference.

Therefore, Mr. Roosevelt may bring a house past the customs officers if he wishes to. He took an immunity bath, when he was appointed special ambassador to King Edward's funeral.

Human nature is much alike; the Massachusetts legislators pummeled each other on the adjourning night, just as the Vermont legislators are wont to do. But we hope they left the inkstands.

In the failure of the Vermont supreme court to order the Rutland county assistant judges to appoint license commissioners, it seems that the clause of the local option law requiring the appointment within sixteen days is not enforceable and that commissioners can be appointed any time during the year after a town or city has voted to license the sale of liquor.

The newspaper fraternity throughout the state will rejoice with publisher F. W. Whitney of the Northfield News in the announcement that Mrs. Whitney has so far recovered from the effects of her recent surgical operation as to be able to return to her home. Best wishes for a speedy and complete restoration of good health.—Waterbury Record.

Likewise, they will congratulate Editor W. J. Bigelow of the St. Johnsbury Caledonian over his successful initiation into the appendicitis club.

BARRE'S GAIN IN STATE CONVENTION.

Barre City did one thing two years ago, which has just come out, and that was to increase its representation in the Republican state convention to ten delegates, now being on an equality in that respect with Montpelier. The representation is based on the Republican vote for governor at the next preceding election, and while Montpelier's Republican vote was somewhat larger, it was not sufficient to give that city another delegate. Burlington, though much larger than any city in the state, has only sixteen delegates, because of the closeness of the party division between the Republicans and Democrats. Inasmuch as the delegations in the Democratic state convention are based on much the same principle, it behooves the voters of either party to get out to the polls and thus secure for their community as strong representation as possible in the assemblies which make the nominations for state office. This applies with particular force to the Republican party, because the nominating convention virtually elects the governor of Vermont, the Republican plurality being practically a certainty in every election.

A LOSS TO VERMONT ALSO.

The complete destruction of the hotel Champlain at Bluff Point, N. Y., yesterday carries with it a greater loss than is realized at first thought. Ever since the hotel was constructed in 1890, it has been the leading hostelry of the New York and Vermont lake region summer resorts. Large and well-appointed, it has attracted patronage from all parts of the country, particularly from New York City and other of the centers of population in the East, the patrons being generally persons of considerable wealth and, therefore, spending money freely during their weeks and months of stay there. Gradually, the hotel had gained a reputation for itself and had thereby given the Lake Champlain region a certain desirable publicity as a splendid place to spend the summer; and under this leadership other hotel projects sprang up on both sides of the lake and through the islands in the northern part of Champlain, until a great current of summer visitors was diverted in that direction. The Bluff point hotel undoubtedly led in entertainment, because of its greater facilities and because of its superb location on ground overlooking a wide expanse of Lake Champlain, but through it much money was brought to Vermont and to the other side, as well.

It is said that the hotel Champlain, alone was not a decided success from the financial standpoint of the owner, which was the Delaware & Hudson railroad, but it was valuable in the amount of traffic which it brought to the railroad during the summer months. This fact indicates that the hostelry will be rebuilt; and

The big store with little prices. 174 North Main Street, Barre, Vermont

The belief is further strengthened by the general consent that a better location could not be found for a big summer resort business than on the upper shores of Lake Champlain. The site is right in the midst of "this noble pleasure ground, the most delightful region of eastern America," as Ambassador James Bryce declared in speaking at the Champlain tercentenary exercises last summer. It would be a serious blow to the summer business in this region if the hotel should not be rebuilt. And even in case the hotel is reconstructed, there will be a serious temporary loss to all hotel and summer resort keepers, before it is ready for business.

Montpelier's Opportunity.

The Woman's club again has demonstrated its usefulness as a leader in good things by planning for a free choral rehearsal in this city the evening of June 30, by Nelson P. Coffin of Keene, N. H. Mr. Coffin is one of the best conductors in the East. He is a pupil and friend of the famous Emil Mollenhauer of Boston and has achieved great success in St. Albans, Windsor, Fitchburg and other Massachusetts cities and towns. At St. Albans he has built up a large chorus, which is one of the valuable assets of the city. He is a very magnetic leader, capable of inspiring enthusiasm, and his coming to this city is an event of more than ordinary importance.

This is an opportunity that Montpelier should not neglect. There is a chance to organize a strong choral society, that will be of inestimable benefit to this city and the surrounding country. It will give music lovers an opportunity to cultivate chorus singing, educate the public to love the best in music, and add to the reputation of Montpelier. A good music festival would attract many visitors to this city.

Rutland License Commissioners.

At last the assistant judges have appointed license commissioners for this city, and Rutland, unless something unforeseen intervenes, is to have what is voted for—the legalized sale of liquor.

It is impossible to avoid noticing the coincidence of these appointments being made while proceedings to obtain a writ of mandamus ordering the judges to carry out their duties are pending in supreme court. But whatever the attitude of the court may be, the judges have forestalled it and, perhaps, in the circumstances, the public should refrain from forming unjust conclusions regarding the motives which may have prompted the agreement.

Three men have been named for license commissioners, and the choice seems to meet with general approval. It is the duty of these commissioners, if they accept the work, to award the licenses to men who have observed the law in the past and those who will not ignore it the coming year. The fact that a man has held a license year after year gives him no claim for further consideration, unless his conduct has been beyond suspicion. Any honest citizen who applies for a license has a right to expect fair treatment and the granting of his application, if he fulfills the necessary requirements. Let us have no more of this "same old ring controls the traffic here" gentlemen. Award the licenses in a manner that will redound to your own credit and be satisfactory to the voters.—Rutland Herald.

A Good Work in Vermont.

It is certainly very encouraging to note that Vermont is making marked progress in the eradication of tuberculosis. According to a recent statement of Dr. H. D. Holton, secretary of the state board of health, statistics show that in the early 80's he deaths by the disease numbered about 900 annually and that now they have been reduced to 425, notwithstanding the increase in population. The tuberculosis campaign conducted the past season has unquestionably been a highly practical one, the benefits of which will be noted in coming years. The exhibit has been shown in 21 places. In each place two lectures were given so that they numbered 42 in all. It is estimated that between 18,000 and 20,000 attended. This is done on an appropriation of $2,000 made by the state. The campaign was also responsible for the recent observance of tuberculosis Sunday, which was general throughout the state. In the smaller towns union services were held, which were addressed by a physician or some other man well qualified to speak upon the subject. Learning how to live is one of the great secrets of a successful fight against the scourge of the consumption. It is to be hoped that the state will keep up this good work now so well begun.—Northfield News.

THE UNION LABEL

And Its Relation to City Printing in Barre Told About.

Editor, Barre Daily Times, Dear Sir: I saw in your issue of Wednesday the report of Aldermen Thurston, Brown and Rossi, the committee on city printing, are of the opinion that the action of the Central Labor union of Barre and vicinity, in requesting the city council to have the Typographical union label placed on all city printing, is unnecessary and uncalled for. Now there is no doubt but what the Central Labor union will be able to handle its side of the case without the assistance of lawyers, who, in more ways than one, read into their "prescriptions" nothing favorable to the workman's viewpoint. Be that as it may, I wish to ask the city printing committee if it is not a fact that in the past few years two contracts, i. e., city reports, were let to union firms in the city of Barre, who had the covers printed in the city with the union label attached, and the inside matter done in Burlington and St. Albans by non-union firms? It is to guard against such acts as these that the union men ask to give the printing contracts to strictly union firms, either inside or outside the confines of our city.

I beg to remain, Sincerely yours, Alex Ironside, 32 Ayers street, City.

HE DIDN'T BRING IT

Says H. Lundy of Graniteville About Recent Action in County Court.

Editor, Barre Daily Times, Dear Sir: Noting the statement in your issue of May 24, 1910, regarding the case of hearing of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lundy of Graniteville, Vt., which was held in Washington county court, Montpelier, May 24, I wish to call your attention to the fact that the action was not brought by me, but by her (Mrs. Lundy), through the efforts of her attorney, E. L. Scott of Barre, which was for the custody of the child and the support of her and the child also. This she failed to get, with the exception of the custody of the child and a light allowance, towards the keeping of said child until the September hearing.

Beginning to correct the statement in said issue of May 24, I remain, Very truly yours, H. A. Lundy, Graniteville, Vt., May 25, 1910.

TRUTH CROPS OUT

Why Pile Sufferers So Often Fail to Get Relief.

Science is getting to the bottom of everything, including the cause and cure of piles. The brightest doctors now admit that piles are caused internally and can be cured only by internal treatment. Dr. J. S. Leonard some time ago perfected a remedy in tablet form—Hem-Roid, which cures the cause of piles, and therefore cures permanently. It is sold by Burt H. Wells, Barre, Vt., under money-back guarantee, $1 for 24 days' treatment. Dr. Leonard, Co., Station B, Buffalo, N. Y. Write for booklet.
